

ONE MILLION SHELLS A DAY POURED INTO TEUTON LINE

With Intensity of Volcano Eruptions. Missiles Wipe Out German Defenses, Tearing Acres of Ground and Destroying Troops

BOMBARDMENT CONTINUES DAY AND NIGHT FIERCELY

War Office in London Announces Intensity of Attack Will Not Cease Until Positions Have Been Blasted Away All Along Front

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.) LONDON, July 1.—An undated despatch issued officially reports intense successes on three important fronts. The French and British are successfully continuing raids upon the German lines in France and Belgium, while the Russians have made further advances in Galicia and the Italians have retaken positions which they recently lost from the Austrians, capturing many prisoners.

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

BRITISH HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, July 1.—The fourth day of the attack upon German lines along the Franco-Belgian border sees more than one million high explosive shells a day being hurled at the German positions. The British supply of munitions is unlimited, and the firing is incessant twenty-four hours a day.

Not even in the German attacks at Verdun has there been such terrific use of heavy artillery as that which is now continuing, hour after hour, day and night, on the German lines at the British end of the long frontier from Switzerland to the sea. The effect is absolute destruction of defenses, trenches and all.

Acres of Ground Torn Up

Acres of ground are being simply torn up by the thousands of shells an hour which are falling upon the German positions. So far there have been no infantry attacks, the assault, continued without any abatement for four days, being one of artillery alone.

The German first and second line trenches have been demolished by the volcanic explosions of the millions of heavy shells directed upon them, and the occupants perished amid explosions which left them no chance to fight back.

Tens of thousands of shells an hour are being continuously poured upon the German positions, and after four days and nights of this deadly warfare there is still a supply to last an indefinite time, and there is no lessening of the fire.

All Entanglements Reduced

In addition to demolishing the German first and second line trenches, the fire is having the effect of cutting to pieces all the barbed wire and other entanglements with which the Germans had prepared to resist infantry advances. The falling shells are simply tearing up the earth so that nothing can live in the region where the attack is going on.

It is stated that the attack will continue, even at the rate of one million heavy explosive shells a day, until the German positions are blasted away. The vast stores which Great Britain has been accumulating for nearly two years are cashed behind the attacking forces, and it is the belief of British headquarters that not even the deepest and best constructed trenches can withstand the attack.

FRENCH REGAIN LOST POSITIONS

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.) PARIS, July 1.—The French forces have again taken the Thimant mountains. Verdun after desperate fighting. An infantry charge rushed the position and brought on the most hotly contested hand-to-hand fighting, which ended with the French in possession of the fort which they lost a few days ago. The number killed on both sides was very large.

EDITORS OF BRITAIN ASK FOR CLEMENCY

Newspapers On All Sides Urge That Mercy Be Shown To Sir Roger Casement

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.) LONDON, July 1.—Mercy for Sir Roger Casement, found guilty of high treason, is urged on all sides in the press of Great Britain. Casement's former brilliant career in the service of the British empire and his erratic and visionary temperament, which, in the opinion of some of his friends, amounts to insanity, are urged as reasons why the death penalty which naturally follows from his conviction, as a leader of the Irish revolt, should not be imposed. An embarrassing predicament for the government has resulted from the trial, and the popular demands that Casement be saved from the death penalty. Considering that a number of the minor leaders were promptly found guilty of treason and shot, the exercise of mercy in the case of Sir Roger, most prominent leader of the revolt in Dublin, will bring out an inconsistency which may subject the government to almost as much criticism for clemency in favor of the titled leader as it already faces for its severity against those it has shot.

But the British press is almost unanimous in the view that the carrying out of the death sentence which has been passed upon Sir Roger will hinder rather than help a solution of the Irish problem. They urge that he be regarded as an irretrievably visionary and in some way restrained so that he can make no further trouble.

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.) NEW YORK, June 30.—Hans Thuesen, a former German army officer, charged with complicity in the plot to blow up the Welland canal, on the Canadian border, was acquitted of conspiracy today by a federal jury. Thuesen was named as one of the many "war-plotters" whose activities were probed by United States officials.

CHINESE GOVERNMENT FACTIONS COMPROMISING

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.) PEKING, June 30.—The formation of a compromise Chinese cabinet was announced today. Tzu Chi Jui heads it, combining the premiership and the office of secretary of war. Tang Shao Yi is to be minister of foreign affairs.

Hill 301, was also the scene of most bloody fighting yesterday. It was taken on by the Germans in a desperate infantry attack, which was preceded by an artillery fire so severe that men were literally burned in the trenches. Later the French counter-attacked, and they now hold the position.

At Avonmouth, also, the Germans made a strong assault, but they were repulsed with heavy losses.

SLAVS CONTINUE THEIR ADVANCES

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.) PETROGRAD, July 1.—The Russians, continuing their advances against the Austrians, have occupied Kolo mek, an important railway junction. From there the Czech army controls lines of further advances into Galicia. The Austrian army does not seem to be in a force sufficient to stem the Russian advance toward the Carpathian passes, and every hour sees the retreat forced at a more rapid pace. The town of Olshatyn, south of the Dniester river, and the villages north and south of that point have been captured by the Russians. The enemy was pursued to flight, leaving behind immense stores.

CONGRESS MAY AUTHORIZE BOND ISSUE FOR WAR

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.) WASHINGTON, July 1.—An agreement has been reached among administration leaders for a federal bond issue to meet the expenses that may arise from the Mexican emergency, should the regular revenues of the government prove insufficient. Not for many years has the United States government had to issue bonds, and there may be no call for an issue now, but it is evident from the discussions had by treasury officials with leaders of congress that they anticipate the need of an issue for war purposes in the near future.

Bourbon Leaders Agree

The Democratic leaders in congress have given their endorsement to a plan for issuing bonds if the administration deems it necessary. The ordinary resources of the treasury government are already being severely drawn upon for the movements of troops to the Mexican border, and it is conceded that if war against Mexico takes place, a bond issue will be necessary to meet the enormous expenses of the campaign.

A part of President Wilson's address to congress, should he decide to place the Mexican problem before the house and senate again, will be a request for support of a bond issue.

May Sell Canal Bonds

An additional $210,000,000 is expected from the revenue bill this fiscal year, but it is conceded that this will not be enough if the Mexican situation eventuates in real war between the United States and Mexico. The treasury surplus this year, aside from war possibilities, is estimated at $200,000,000.

In the event of a bond issue, it is expected that the bonds will be Panama Canal three per cent bonds, of which there are $240,569,000 in the treasury.

APPLICATIONS POUR IN UPON ROOSEVELT

Hundreds of Men Want To Go To Mexican Front With 'Mighty Hunter'

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.) OYSTER BAY, July 1.—Hundreds of applications are coming in by telegraph and mail from Americans all over the country who want to serve in the army division which has been reported Colonel Roosevelt might lead in the war with Mexico, as he led the famous Rough Riders in the Spanish war. Offers of equipment are coming in also and all sorts of supplies are tendered to the colonel by enthusiasts who believe that he will lead a command in the expected war.

Among the offers sent in are some from owners and operators of aeroplanes, who would like to serve with the volunteer division which the colonel was yesterday reported as likely to organize.

Colonel Roosevelt has made no announcement of his intentions, but the report has been widely circulated that he will offer his services, and it appears from the flood of applications pouring in that if he decides to organize a division, there will be a rush of volunteers from all over the country to join the ranks of his command.

FOREIGN OFFICE MEMORANDUM NOT WHAT IS WANTED

President Will Not Accept This Document As Reply of De Facto Executive

OFFICIALS IMPATIENT BUT 'FIRST CHIEF' MUM

Note Received Reiterates United States Has Acted In Bad Faith Towards Mexico

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.) WASHINGTON, July 1.—With a "memorandum reply" in hand from the Mexican foreign office, charging the United States with bad faith and reiterating the Mexican position regarding presence of American troops in Mexico, the administration awaits a direct answer from Carranza himself. It is announced that President Wilson will wait at least until next Wednesday for such a reply. If an unsatisfactory reply comes, however, at any time, the President will act promptly, it is believed. Should Carranza, in his response, de facto president, follow the lines of the memorandum which his foreign office transmitted to Washington today, Wilson probably will proceed with warlike measures.

Officials Are Impatient

Administration officials manifested impatience today at the delay in receiving a formal reply to the peremptory note sent by Wilson. The state department is informed as to when the Carranza note will be received. While the release of the Carranza note has relieved the tension to some extent, it is recognized that Carranza must respond definitely to Wilson's note as regards the orders which General Trevino is said to have issued, bringing on the clash.

Carranza, in his response to him was required expressly to disavow or reaffirm the order given by Trevino. It was stated in the American note that the state department has evidence that Trevino's order was made under direct instructions from Carranza. It is believed that if Carranza does not disavow such an order, Wilson will take drastic action.

Memorandum Unsatisfactory

The Mexican memorandum reply is highly unsatisfactory. It is from the foreign office in Mexico city. It denies a number of the assertions made in Secretary Lansing's note, and declares that American forces have no right on Mexican soil. It denies that the Carranza government has been protecting bandits, and defies the Washington government to produce any proof of the charge that the Mexican de facto government has aided bandits.

The blame for the Santa Ysabel massacre is placed on the so-called irresponsibility of Charles Watson, manager of the Cusihiurichi company.

Both General Scott and General Funston are accused of bad faith and lack of honor in misleading General Obregon in an alleged evasive reply regarding the crossing of American troops into Mexico after the Glenn Springs raid.

The note goes on to assert that while it is true that the United States arrested Huerta, the motive was not the purpose of aiding the Constitutionalists because Uncle Sam feared that Huerta was plotting with Germany.

Private advice reaching Washington from a reliable source in the City of Mexico are that "First Chief" Carranza and his advisers are determined to stand by orders given by General Trevino to his troops, to attack any American soldiers moving in any direction except toward the border.

Trevino's threat still hangs over the situation, and the advice from the City of Mexico, which are considered reliable, say that a break between the two countries is unavoidable.

A faction in the Mexican cabinet is urging a still more defiant attitude upon Carranza. This faction wanted to include in the reply to the last American note a new demand for the immediate withdrawal of American troops from Mexican soil.

The general staff of the army is much elated at the success of the movement of the national guard. From all sections of the country, the militia was rushed to the Mexican border with gratifying dispatch and lack of confusion, and there was shown in every state a readiness for service that far exceeded that displayed at the time of the last call upon the militia, when war was declared upon Spain.

TENSION INCREASES ALONG BORDER

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.) EL PASO, July 1.—The Carranza memorandum made public in Washington today has much increased the tension here. It is feared that when its text is made public in Mexico there will be further outbreaks against Americans. Its charges of bad faith against the United States, and its repetition of the demand that American troops leave Mexico, are calculated to encourage the Mexican people to more violence. There are grave anticipations of further attacks upon Americans, when Mexicans learn of the attitude of their government as represented by this memorandum, because it seems to justify them in opposing the American forces.

TAFT AND TEDDY WILL BE WORKING TOGETHER

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.) BRIDGEHAMPTON, N. H., July 1.—Former President Taft paid a visit today to Charles Evans Hughes, Republican candidate for the presidency, and the president and the prospective president had a long conference.

After the visit Taft said that he was "for Hughes." He declared that he would help all that he could in the campaign for the election of Hughes, and this is taken to mean that he will make campaign speeches for him. As Roosevelt is expected to take the stump also, the two bitter rivals of the last campaign are likely to be seen speaking for the same cause.

The steamer Burnside caught fire but was pulled away from the wharf and saved with slight damage. PAUANI STREET HEARS PINKHAM IS LOSING OUT

Bourbon Bunch Has Tip From Washington That Judge Stuart Will Be Governor

M'CANDLESS HENCHMEN GETTING IN THEIR WORK

At Democratic Convention and In National Capital They Urge Immediate Change

Down in Pauani street, in the haven of disgruntled Democrats, they are chucking over the yonous tip which has reached them from Washington. Governor Pinkham is a marked man. Judge Stuart is uneasing him. They are accepting the tip at its face value. They are certain it is true, and this is the way they size the situation up.

Franklin K. Lane, secretary of the interior, has been the strong support and ready advocate of Governor Pinkham, but now Mr. Lane is discouraged with Mr. Pinkham, principally through the failure of the chief executive to deliver the Hawaii delegates at the St. Louis convention. Mr. Lane had laid particular stress with the Governor on the importance of this, as Mr. Lane is ambitious, after the manner of Mr. Cascoe, and wanted the nomination for vice-president.

Fails To Deliver 'Goods'

But the Governor, notwithstanding the importuning, failed to deliver a single delegate, the McCandless faction leaving him at the post. Consequently Mr. Lane is a trifle peeved and feels that Governor Pinkham has not lived up to his promises, and has fallen down in "delivering the goods."

Judge Stuart and the McCandless delegates happened upon the secretary of the interior at the right time, and knocked the last planks from under the chief executive's feet. They tarred and feathered him verbally. They did him up brown. And while all this was going on, a silent but effective campaign was being launched on behalf of Judge Stuart to make him Pinkham's successor.

Judge Stuart had a long talk with Senator Shafter soon after the convention and explained to him why he was determined to withdraw from his present position as judge, since, at least, he had opened his heart about the Governor, telling what a mess the latter was making of the Democratic party here, what blunders he had made in the home-state disputes, and what an all-round failure he was as a chief executive.

Also See Senator Thomas

Judge Stuart also saw Senator Thomas and told him about the same thing, with perhaps a few additions for good luck.

In the meantime the McCandless delegates were getting in their strokes. They rounded up any number of congressmen and men in authority in the Democratic party, and avowed to them that no political good could come out of Hawaii so long as Mr. Pinkham was the chief executive. They went so far as to insinuate a change should be made promptly. They pointed out that Mr. Pinkham was unable to handle the large amount of work falling to his department, and that it would be only merciful and humane to relieve him immediately. Judge Stuart could step right into the place, and no trouble at all, they said.

Pauani street has just learned that these efforts of their worthies are bearing fruit.

Stuart's Resignation Accepted

Out at what they have heard, one thing seems to be authorized, at least. Which is that Judge Stuart has placed his resignation with the department of justice and the same has been accepted.

There was talk in the street as to who will succeed him and a good many seemed to feel that William Pittman, Jr., who is now practicing law in Honolulu, will take Judge Stuart's place. He is a Democrat, a brother of Senator Key Pittman, and a man with considerable Washington pull.

Give Those Worn Nerves A Rest

Housewives who are often "all in a tangle" are apt to think it due entirely to family cares.

But nervous troubles often come from kidney weakness, and then the best help for it is to help the kidneys. When the kidneys are slowed up from a cold, or some unseen cause, their work of filtering the blood is hindered. Poisonous uric acid, which the kidneys should throw off, clogs the blood, and the nerves are constantly irritated.

Uric acid poisoning causes nervousness, "blues," crossness, worry, headache, dizzy spells, tiredness, rheumatic pains and indigestion, and, if allowed to run on, heart disease, dropsy, gravel and Bright's disease.

Doan's Backache Kidney Pills have helped thousands of tired, nervous women. They are good for backache, too, and for bladder troubles, and are harmless.

Remember Your Back Is Lame—Remember the Name. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for Doan's Backache Kidney Pills and take no other. Doan's Backache Kidney Pills are sold by all druggists and storekeepers at 50c a box (six boxes $2.50), or will be mailed on receipt of price by the Holister Drug Co., or Benson, Smith & Co., agents for the Hawaiian Islands.

SLAV FLEET IN BALTIC SEA IS WORSTED BY GERMANS

Reports From Stockholm Give Meager Details of Sea Battle In Which Squadron of Czar Is Believed To Have Suffered

LARGE TEUTON COMMAND HAMMERS ENEMY SHIPS

Conflict Begins Late In Evening and Lasts All Night, According To Latest Advices Which Are Verified In Measure By Berlin

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

LONDON, July 1.—That a large portion of the German fleet has entered the Baltic sea and successfully engaged a Russian squadron there, is indicated by reports received from Stockholm last night. There are no details of losses on either side, but sailors reporting at Stockholm say that the Russians were defeated.

Cannonading Is Heavy

Confirmation of the fact that a battle took place comes from Stockholm in the form of reports that heavy cannonading was heard there.

It continued during all of Thursday night and the early hours of yesterday, but Stockholm got no definite reports of what had taken place.

A Reuter's despatch from Stockholm says that sailors arriving at Stockholm tell of seeing an attack by a large German fleet upon a Russian squadron, on Thursday night.

Battle Lasts All Night

The resulting engagement lasted all the night, says this report, and the Russians were defeated.

The battle began, about fifteen miles of Landsort. It is thought possible that the German fleet had left its base with a view to aiding in the operations at Riga, and that it was while thus engaged that it encountered a portion of the Russian fleet.

BERLIN CONFIRMS BATTLE

BERLIN, July 1.—It is officially reported that on Thursday night a German torpedo boat squadron attacked a Russian armored cruiser, a protected cruiser and five destroyers, off Sodermanland, Sweden. The Russians withdrew after a short engagement. The German forces suffered no damages nor casualties. The enemy's losses are not known.

LAST ALTERNATIVE WAR, SAYS WILSON

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.) NEW YORK, July 1.—President Wilson, addressing the New York Press club last night, emphatically reaffirmed his intention to avoid war with Mexico if it was possible to do so. He went so far as to say that he would not have war with the southern border country "until there was no other alternative."

"I am willing," said the President, "to sacrifice my political fortunes if necessary to carry out my convictions. I shall carry out, regardless of all odds, the policy of keeping the peace with our southern neighbor if it is possible."

The President asked his audience if the interests of America would be advanced by a war for the conquest of Mexico. He was answered by shouts of "No."

STATE DEPARTMENT REVIVES SUSSEX CASE

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.) WASHINGTON, June 30.—The state department is preparing to make formal inquiry of Germany to learn what punishment was inflicted on the commander of the German submarine which attacked the Sussex. An informal inquiry through Ambassador Gerard has brought no response. Germany is repudiating for the attack, said that the commander would be punished.
